Renewable Energy Systems Canada Forty Mile Wind Power Project Connection Project information

You may have recently received a September 2017 project-specific information package for the Renewable Energy Systems Canada (RES) Forty Mile Wind Power Project Connection. The information package sent earlier by AltaLink included details on route selection and a map of the proposed project identifying preferred and alternate routes. We inadvertently missed including strip maps with the information package. We apologize that the information package did not include strip maps for your area.

Included in this package are the strip map(s) detailing your land in relation to the project.
