Turning Point Generation Canyon Creek Connection – Project cancellation notification

Thank you for your participation in the Turning Point Generation (TPG) Canyon Creek Connection project. In September 2020, AltaLink began consulting with stakeholders and rights holders on the proposed project.

This letter is to inform you that the Alberta Electric System Operator (AESO) has cancelled TPG's system access service request. As a result, AltaLink's related project is no longer required.

If you have questions about TPG's project, please contact them at info@turningpointgeneration.ca.

Information from the AESO about the cancellation is included with this letter. If you have questions about the cancelled request for system access service, please contact the AESO at 1-888-866-2959 or stakeholder.relations@aeso.ca.

Project background

AltaLink had proposed to construct approximately five kilometres of new single circuit 138 kilovolt (kV) transmission line to connect TPG's proposed Canyon Creek Substation to AltaLink's existing 745AL transmission line.
